

EX-POSTMASTER HENDRIX DEAD

Typhoid Fever Proves Fatal to Prominent Brooklyn Politician
After an Illness Lasting Only Two Weeks.

RAN FOR MAYOR AND WAS DEFEATED BY LOW.

Head of Brooklyn Post-Office Four Years, President Board of Education Six Years and Member of Congress 4 Years.

Joseph C. Hendrix, formerly Postmaster of Brooklyn, ex-member of Congress and ex-President of the Brooklyn Board of Education, is dead. He had been ill for two weeks with typhoid fever, and death put an end to his sufferings at his home, No. 882 Carroll street, Brooklyn, to-day.

Hendrix was born in Missouri, and began life in this city as a newspaper reporter. He took an active interest in Democratic politics in 1883 while still working as a reporter, and was nominated by the Democrats for Mayor of Brooklyn. He was defeated by Seth Low.

He was president of the National Bankers' Association and a trustee of the Kings County Trust Company, the Morton Trust Company, the Fifth Ave.

COADJUTOR BISHOP TO BE SELECTED

Bishops of the New York Province Will Meet To-Morrow to Pass on the Nominees in the Rochester Diocese.

Archbishop Farley has called for tomorrow a meeting of the Bishops of New York province, to pass upon the names selected for Coadjutor Bishop of Rochester, N. Y.

The irremovable rectors and diocesan consultors have already nominated the Very Rev. Thomas F. Hickey, Vicar-General of the diocese and rector of St.
Patrick's Cathedral, with the Rev. E.
J. Hanna, professor of dogmatic theology at St. Bernard's seminary, as second choice. Prof. Hanna is a hard worker in the diocese of Rochester, and is a student well known to Rome, where he lived several years.

A Coadjutor Bishop is needed in Rochester because of Bishop McQuaid, who is eighty-one years of age. Some time ago he asked permission to appoint an Auxiliary Bishop, owing to his extreme age. His request was sent to Rome, but was refused, because the Propaganda declines any longer to grant permission for Bishops to select and appoint their own auxiliaries. If a Bishop wants an assistant he must have a Coadjutor and not an Auxiliary.
In accordance with that decision Bishop Farley has called the meeting of the Bishops. Bishop McQuaid will have much influence as to who is selected.

EX-POSTMASTER HENDRIX, DEAD IN BROOKLYN.

nue Trust Company and of Cornell University.

Came Here penniless.
At the time of his death, his wife, Clifford Hendrix, his only child, and Miss Rathbone, Mrs. Hendrix's sister, were with him.

Mr. Hendrix was born in Fayette, Howard County, Mo., in 1853.

YOUNG SOLDIER STRANGELY SLAIN

James L. Hussey, Manila Hero, Shot in Hallway of Tenement as He Was Hiding from His Brother.

James L. Hussey, a young soldier recently returned from the Philippines, where he served with distinction in Company B of the Eleventh United States Infantry, was assassinated early to-day in the hallway of a tenementhouse at No. 351 East Thirtieth street, being shot down from the stairways above. Ten men and one woman have been taken in by the police and are held as witnesses.

If the theory of the police be correct, however, the young man was murdered by a member of the notorious "Humpty" Jackson gang, the leader of which is now serving a term in Sing Sing prison. This gang is the terror of the neighborhood and for months last a man or woman who dared show lack of fear of one of its members was marked. Hussey had been under fire in the Philippines and he had faced death more than once, and fear was a stranger to him. Because of this he gained the hatred of the gang, and for weeks the police say, he had been a marked man.

Back from Philippines.

Hussey returned from the Philippines only a few weeks ago. He went to live with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Hussey, at No. 405 East Thirtieth street.

Yesterday Hussey joined Charles Sweeney, also a returned soldier, who had been with him in the Philippines, and the two came downtown last night to hear the election returns. So interested were they in the bulletins that they did not start home until almost daylight.

Tracked by Man.

Passing through Thirtieth street a man with a sack coat was seen keeping track of the two young men. Near Second avenue Hussey saw his brother Thomas approaching. Thomas, having missed James, was in search of him, fearing that some accident had kept him away from home until such a late hour. When the brothers met Thomas said:

"You'd better get home, Jim. You will be too tired for work to-morrow if you don't get some sleep."
The younger brother caught hold of James' arm and there was a playful scuffle. Then James broke away and ran into the hallway of No. 351. The younger brother was looking for James when he heard two pistol shots. He ran into the hallway and came upon his brother's dead body. The latter had been shot as he was going up the stairway, and in falling his foot had caught in the banisters.

RAIN MARS LONDON'S SHOW.

Lord Mayor's Day Observed, White Flags Fly for the King.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The circus-pageant constituting the Lord Mayor's Show was somewhat more pretentious than usual to-day, but the effect was greatly marred by damp, windy weather. The rain itself ceased before noon, when the procession started for the Guildhall, but the inclemency of the typical November day necessitated hiding all the brightness and color beneath overcoats.

"Empire" was the keynote of the civic pageant, as exemplified by four imperial cars, representing Egypt, Greece, Rome and Great Britain. The crowds were neither large nor over-enthusiastic, and the decorations had a decidedly bedraggled appearance. The flags served the double purpose of Lord Mayor's Day and the King's birthday.
The latter was also observed by the firing of the usual royal salutes, &c.

The Best Place for It.

(From the Philadelphia Ledger.)
"I'd like to make a good, safe bet on the election," said Chance. "What would you advise?"
"Put your money in it, by all means," replied Mr. Wise.
"In what?"
"A good safe."

GIRL DIDN'T KNOW SHE WAS MARRIED

Tells Court that Man Took $150 from Her Trunk and Left Marriage Certificate—She Seeks Annulment.

Justice O'Gorman presided to-day in the divorce court and listened to the usual Wednesday narration of marital infidelity.

Michael Pesch, seeking absolute divorce from Barbara Pesch, declared she was living with Barney Greger at No. 334 East Seventy-seventh street, and Mrs. Mary Keller, of No. 423 East Seventy-seventh street, testified:

"Mrs. Pesch told me Barney was her husband and if I saw Mike to tell him she didn't want him any more." Married and Didn't Know It.
The story of the next plaintiff, asking for an annulment on the ground of fraud, was a remarkable tale. She was a pretty, yellow-haired young woman, she said.

"Your Honor, my name is Edith Goldstein, and I live with my parents at No.

225 Henry street. I met Sam Liberman Nov. 25, 1901, and he said I must go with him or he would shoot me. So I went to his friends. They gave me some wine, and after a while we went away.
I went home.

"Next day I was over my trunk counting about $150 I was going to deposit in the bank, when Sam called. I closed the trunk and went out shopping. When I got home again Sam was gone. The money was gone from the trunk, and in its place was a marriage certificate saying I was married to Sam Liberman.

"I have never seen him or my money from that day, now nearly three years.
"We lived together three weeks and three days before she left," said Frank Adcock, seeking divorce from Kate Adcock, with whom he married June 9, 1901.

Mrs. Freda Flor, of No. 137 Franklin street, Jersey City Heights, testified that Mrs. Adcock was living over there in bed with a Mr. Hirsch, and that Kate said he was her husband.

Decision Reserved.
